

Industry Preparedness Makes TMT Future-Ready

For many technology, media and telecommunications (TMT) organizations, the looming threat of a cybersecurity event and a difficult talent market continue to define the risk landscape in 2022. In a webinar survey conducted by Protiviti, respondents shared their perspectives on the top risk issues impacting their organizations. The responses reaffirmed the major trends and insights we gathered in our global 2022 Top Risks Survey.

WHAT DO YOU SEE AS YOUR ORGANIZATION'S TOP RISK IN 2022?

IS YOUR COMPANY PREPARED?

“ TMT companies are trying to find the optimal balance between the push for innovation and growth and the pull of regulation. To meet operational targets and protect their brand and reputation, companies must develop a strong understanding of the changing expectations of today's customers, governments and other key stakeholders. This daunting task requires greater investment in time and expertise to analyze, monitor and devise strategies to address threats, whether mild or severe, that could impact their business.”
